Comment:

What steps can be taken for a principal residence that has a market value of $2,500,000 and a low assessed value of around $200,000 to be able to pass their property to their children without causing such an extreme rise in real estate property tax for their children under Proposition 19? The parent has intentionally stayed in their home expecting to have their children get a low real estate tax base to help the children into the future. Please list all types of preparation that should or could be done to help this family.
