Dear Mr. Frank:

Assessor's Parcel No. 02-425-06-000

In your letter of June 13, you ask our opinion as to whether certain property that is owned by the California Polytechnical State University of San Luis Obispo, but which is leased to a nonexempt entity, is exempt from property tax.

The University attorney argues that since the University is a part of the state, its property is exempt under Article XIII, Section 3(a) of the California Constitution.

Article IX, Section 6, provides in part that the state colleges (universities) are included within the definition of the "public school system". Since the public school system is regarded as part of the state, the property owned by them is considered to be state property. (Cal. Jur. 2d, pages 994-997.)

However, this does not necessarily mean that the property is exempt from tax. Since the property is leased to a nonexempt entity, it would seem appropriate to consider that the leased property is subject to tax as a possessory interest under Sections 107 and 107.1.

Very truly yours,

Glenn L. Rigby Assistant
Chief Counsel
